I am writing to send my support for this festival which a nice friendly festival run by volunteers who share a love of live music.. It brings people into the area spending money with local businesses. It is well organised, there is never any trouble and at the finish the venues are always left in excellent condition. People that attend, and I have been to everyone since it started in 2004, form friendships from going and come back year after year. It helps young local bands get experience of playing on a big stage.
