

Public Question from Elizabeth McWilliams

In tandem with the Council's work on domestic violence and its accreditation with the Domestic Abuse Housing Alliance, does the Council have plans to gain accreditation with the leading campaign to prevent violence before it starts?

White Ribbon engages men and boys to end violence against women and girls.

Many local authorities are accredited including East Cambridgeshire District Council and Cambridge City Council.

Does South Cambridgeshire District Council plan to join them?

If so, please advise on progress;

If no, please advise why not.
